

Financial Intermediation Network of European Studies

www.finest-network.eu

FINEST acts as a forum for banking and financial intermediation research activity with the aim of creating synergies among academics involved in various European universities and practitioners by developing an open research network

Main Outputs

Working papers

The working paper series gives the possibility to share the research effort among all interested researchers dealing with banking and financial intermediation issues. At the same time, working papers will be highly viewed in the academic environment.

Working papers will be reviewed following a double-blind review system.

Research Projects

FINEST promotes research groups, surveys and observatories on specific complex areas of banking and financial intermediation in Europe with the aim to originally contribute to international research on these issues.

Conferences

FINEST organises periodical conferences on a specific banking and financial intermediation issue.

Workshops

FINEST promotes workshops to present high quality papers providing authors with a deep and open discussion before the paper submission to top academic journals.

Summer schools

FINEST organises short summer courses on issues related to banking and financial intermediation in Europe mainly for undergraduate and postgraduate students in accounting, economics, finance and management.

Executive training

FINEST offers seminars and training courses on banking and financial intermediation for executives, managers and professionals.

The FINEST is a network of researchers from various European universities, central banks, financial authorities, other research institutes and practitioners who are interested in exploring all aspects of banking and finance.

The FINEST is hosted by the University of Rome III, Italy. The FINEST is widely supported by various academic research centers as:

- ❖ Institute for European Finance, Bangor University, U.K.
- ❖ Centre for Responsible Banking and Finance, University of St. Andrew, U.K.
- ❖ The Institute of Finance, University Leicester, U.K.
- ❖ Centre for Banking Research, Cass Business School, U.K.
- ❖ Laboratoire d'Analyse et de Prospective Economiques, Université de Limoges, France
- ❖ Essex Finance Centre, Essex University, U.K.
- ❖ Credifact, Italian Factoring Association, Italy

All those that wish to cooperate with FINEST activities can join the network. Membership can be asked by individual researchers from universities, central banks, financial authorities, other research institutes and practitioners who are interested in exploring all aspects of banking and finance.
